Title: Faculty Titles

Related Policy: Policy 3.1.3 Employment Classifications and Working Hours

Division of Responsibility: Human Resources

Faculty Titles

Faculty titles include instructor, assistant professor, associate professor, and professor. Titles are not considered in determining employment, contracts, duties, salaries, etc.

Faculty may have the additional title of Lead Instructor in content areas or disciplines to provide subject-matter expertise.

A. Initial Appointment

When faculty are hired, an initial appointment of faculty title shall be Instructor.

B. Title Change

When a faculty member has worked at the college for one year as a full-time instructor, has completed the probationary period and has achieved the criteria for the next faculty title (see table next page), the faculty member may complete a Request for Title Change with appropriate signatures (DocuSign form). The form shall be sent to the Chair of the Faculty Title Review Committee February 1. This is an ad hoc committee, composed of four representatives, one from each academic division to be chosen by the Faculty Senate Executive Committee. Voting members will rotate.

The committee's recommendation shall be sent to the vice president of learning for final approval. Once approved, the Request for Title Change will be forwarded to the director of human resources; new titles shall become effective the following fall semester. The Human Resources Department will notify the college via email announcement of title changes at the start of each fiscal year.
